Our software helps companies prepare for the challenges of tomorrow's working environment. As the shift from fixed jobs to freelance jobs is getting more serious every day, we want to offer the smartest solution to strengthen the relationship between companies and it's freelancers, keep track of a companies freelancer pool as well as optimizing the project staffing process in this new working environment.

Our core belief is that the changing working environment offers huge opportunities for both, employers and employees but also for society.

Higher satisfaction with one's work or with self picked projects, home offices, desk sharing and self-determined working hours are just some keywords we have in mind when we think about smarter working.

zupply enables companies to manage their freelancer knowledge at one single place with the help of the freelancers themselves. Additionally, the staffing process is supported by intelligent technologies to find the best fitting freelancers, all based on a wide range of soft & hard factors.
